| Why are we studying this? | | | |
| C2 SKILLS-BASED AND CONTENT-BASED (TV) We develop our knowledge of moving image conventions and terminology, camera shots and angles, editing techniques and sound. We use this knowledge to analyse a range of extracts from Luther’s first episode and a ten minute extract from The Sweeney. Our analysis allows us to draw conclusions as to how the representation of gender, ethnicity and other issues has changed over time. It also leads to discussions about the audience’s changing expectations and the impact on a crime drama of being shown on a particular television channel. We also develop our knowledge of the TV industry and audiences as a whole. We consider the remit of the BBC and how this is fulfilled, and discuss ways in which Luther reaches out to a global audience. In-Class Extract Analysis Trial Exam 1 – a whole C1 paper | C2 SYNOPTIC SKILLS-BASED AND CONTENT-BASED (MUSIC) We re-visit and further develop our knowledge of moving image conventions and terminology, camera shots and angles, editing techniques and sound. We use this knowledge to analyse three music videos. Two of these are modern and one is from the 1980s. Our analysis allows us to draw conclusions about the changing representation of gender and ethnicity, the different types of music videos produced and the techniques used to appeal to their audiences. We also develop our knowledge of the Music industry as a whole. We consider the significance of star persona and analyse the ways in which this is represented on the singers’ websites and through their social media. In-Class Video Analysis Trial Exam 2 – a whole C2 paper | C1 AND 2 REVISION OF CONTENT AND SKILLS We prepare for our final exams. We practise our analysis of all C1 and C2 set products and media texts. We also revise our knowledge of C1 and 2 Audiences and Industries. We use our topic booklets to practise completing WAGOLLS, to assess pre-existing answers using the Eduqas mark schemes and to revise the most effective ways of answering questions. | |
